INTRODUCTION.

THE Blue Book of Mexico, in its completed form, has four parts. Of these, the first two, in addition to the customary incidental directory information, contain social and club features particularly of value to the Anglo-American colony of Mexico City, but of general interest as well to Americans and Englishmen at home, on whose account the matter is made somewhat extended and explanatory.

ENGLISH-SPEAKING RESIDENTS.

The third part is the directory of English-speaking residents of the Federal District. The unusual demand for the Blue Book, and the sustained friendly interest it has excited in Mexico, render unnecessary further explanation of this feature. All the colony knows of the house-to-house canvass which secured these names, and of their verification by means of 5,000 return postal cards. For the ready response to these cards, for the heavy advance subscription, and for the continued cordial comment of the press and the people, the publishers are warmly grateful. They endeavor to show their gratitude in the presentation of a book which shall exceed every promise.

THE CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY.

The classified business directory of all Mexico City business firms, which composes the fourth part, is the most important part of all. Its double index makes it serviceable equally to English- and Spanish-speaking residents of the Capital and the Republic, while its distinctly American method of classification will prove readily comprehensible to business men in the United States and England. This classified list was carefully compiled, under the direction of the representative of a prominent mercantile agency, from the official list of firms furnished by the Mexican Treasury Department, and was verified by return postal cards sent, with their particular classification, to each firm. The response to these cards was general, and practically every business man in the city is an advance subscriber.

A BOOK OF FACTS.

The Blue Book is possibly imperfect. There were no precedents; the field is new. But its errors are of omission rather than of commission. As it exists, it is a book of facts, and the embodied result of hard, conscientious effort. It is the substantial base on which may be built a more extended directory.

MEXICO CITY'S POPULATION.

The City of Mexico is the seat of government not only of the Republic, but of a political division corresponding to the District of Columbia, called the Federal District (Distrito Federal). The population of the city proper is shown by the census of 1900 to have been 365,000. Taking into consideration the aversion of the lower classes to respond to the census, there are easily 550,000 persons in the Federal District, and 425,000 in the City. Of the latter 150,000 are of the upper and middle classes, of whom 15,000 speak English. This estimate is reached by multiplying the number of names in the Blue Book Directory of English-speaking persons in business by the customary directory multiple of $3^1/_2$. One-third of the English-speaking population of the city are Anglo-Saxon, of whom 4,000 are Americans and 1,000 British subjects.

THE STREETS OF MEXICO.

The City of Mexico is divided into eight wards (demarcaciones). A street is one block in length, numbered up one side and down the other. The termination of a block is the beginning of a new street. Street numbers seldom run higher than 20. In 1890 an attempt was made to name and number the streets according to modern methods, but the plan proved unpopular and was abandoned. However, the numbers then placed on the houses, running up into the thousands, are still frequently used, conflicting with the old numbers.

Since there are many successive streets of the same name, distinguished only by their numerical order, as First, Second, Third San Francisco, the house numbers in the Blue Book directories, always follow the street name. For example: 3a Independencia 6, is Third Independencia Street, No. 6.

A Mexican quarter is called dos reales, a half-dollar, quatro-reales, 3c a quartilla, 6c a medio, etc. Mexican money is issued in cent (centavo), 5, 10, 20, 25, 50-cent and one dollar pieces. The National Bank and the Bank of London & Mexico are the only banks of issue in the capital.

CEMETERIES.

American Cemetery.

In 1898 the American government ordered the closing of the U. S. National Cemetery in San Rafael to all burials except the soldier dead and their families. A mass meeting of prominent members of the American colony was then called, which led to the formation of the American Cemetery Association for the purpose of opening a new cemetery.

A tract of land was purchased near the historic town of Tacuba, about 30 minutes' ride from this city by tramcar, and 46 acres were laid out for the purpose above noted. By a special concession from the Mexican Government, British subjects, as well as American citizens, may be interred in these grounds, under especially favorable conditions.

The grounds of the new cemetery have been beautifully laid out, and, as it appears to-day, it embodies the careful work of nearly two years, and compares well with the best American and European cemeteries. The management has displayed great originality in laying out the grounds, which have more the appearance of a beautiful park than a cheerless burial ground; and at the same time the site is invested with all the sacredness pertaining to a burial place for the dead.

The present officials and Board of Directors of the association are: Pres., A. B. Ingalsbee, gen. mgr. of the Real Estate Company of Mexico; first vice-pres., Maj. R. B. Gorsuch, dean of the American colony; second vice-pres., Judge Ignacio Sepulveda, attorney for large corporations, formerly chargé d'affaire of the American Embassy; treas., Parker H. Sercombe; secy., Walter B. Hull, of Hull's Printing House; C. C. Lamm, contractor; H. W. McVickar, furniture manufacturer; J. J. Moyian, contractor, and M. P. Boss, a prominent mining man of the Republic. The manager is W. L. Vail, formerly editor of the Two Republics.

All Americans who die here in an impoverished condition are furnished burial place free of charge.

The cemetery was formally dedicated Feb. 20, 1901, the American Ambassador taking part in the ceremony.

British Cemetery.

Situated at Tlaxpana gate, on Tacuba road, adjoining the U. S. National Cemetery. Owned by the British Cemetery Association. Officers: T. R. Phillips, Felipe N. Robertson and Richard Honey, trustees; T. R. Phillips, first trustee and treas.; Board of Managers, the trustees, the rector of Christ's Church (Episcopal), C. T. Ambridge, Thomas Phillips.

ORRIN'S CIRCUS.
(Plazuela Villamil).

Mexico's most unique enterprise is her winter circus, the Circo-Teatro Orrin, which has been the capital's distinctive amusement feature for nearly 20 years. There is nothing like it in the world—possibly in no other city in the world could it attain the great success it has attained in Mexico. It is a combination of a regular "ring show" and vaudeville theatre, with a dash of Bohemianism pervading it all. There is something wonderfully fascinating to the tourist in the brilliantly lighted 'Circo" to listen, perhaps, to an operatic selection by Parisian singers, to see a whirling vision of Viennese dancers, and then suddenly to be spattered with sawdust from the hoofs of the bare-backed horse of a dashing American girl rider. Yet all this is quite customary at Orrin's. "Turns" on the stage alternate with "acts" in the ring, and the ingenious construction of the building permits rare pantomime and spectacular possibilities.

The building, a handsome iron and stone affair, was built by Orrin Brothers, the proprietors, after designs of their own. It is a combination structure, under whose domed main hall tiers of seats, broken by a row of boxes, and capable of accommodating 3,000 people, are arranged in amphitheatre form. The circle of the tiers is rendered incomplete by the erection at one side of a full theatre stage, in advantageous view of every seat. In the center of the rounding rows of seats is a regulation circus ring, just as big as the "Greatest on Earth," but without the disagreeable accompaniments of obscuring poles and ropes and pulleys. In the comfortable chairs or boxes, it is like seeing the show from one's parlor window.

But there are other combinations still. The tiers of orchestra seats have separate cuts every 10 feet, and are so mounted on wheels that, within 20 minutes' time, they may be detached and rolled back under the higher tier of boxes above, completely disappearing from view. Over the vacant space and the circus ring a floor is laid, and the result is a vast level ballroom, with boxes all around, and here are held the great American Charity Balls on Thanksgiving night and the Fourth of July, when the building is generously donated for the occasion by the Messrs. Orrin.

The town season of the Circus is during the winter months, when Mexico City is gayest. In late January, usually, the season begins. The opening night at "Orrin's" sees the boxes a mass of kaleidoscopic color and the foyer the meeting place for every one "Who's who" in Mexico. The circus season lasts until late in May, when the "Circo" proper tours the Republic, and Spanish and Italian dramatic and operatic companies fill the house.

The Orrin Brothers are Americans, whom their enterprise has made independently wealthy, and who are among the most influential men in Mexico, not only in the colony, but among Mexicans of standing. In great measure their popularity has been brought about not by the circus alone, but by their generous contributions to charity. "Lujo" or gala nights are frequent during the season, and these are often wholly for the benefit of deserving charity. For instance, the performance for the PATIO OF THE COSMOPOLITAN CLUB. The picture shows a bit of the patio of this palatial Casino, the most pretentious of the down-town resorts. The Club has a buffet-bar, lately supplemented by a well-appointed restaurant. The number is Zuleta 14.

American Hospital in February of this year netted over $800, and this benefit, with others, is repeated each year. It is this sort of thing that makes the name of Orrin a word with which to conjure.

A feature of Orrin's is "Dick" Bell, 40 years a clown, and half that time with Orrin's. The Orrin manager is Fred Hodgson, whose personal popularity and managerial ability are strong features.

MEXICO'S MONTE CARLO

IS THE

TIVOLI DE CARTAGENA in Tacubaya.

The stacks on the Roulette Table are of Mexican dollars, piled in stacks of twenties.

It is the tourist season which brings crowds to the Tivoli de Cartagena in Tacubaya greater, if possible, than at other times of the year. The "Tiger" is roused from his lair at four, each afternoon; the little town is beautiful, the gardens are lovelier still; and the place is thronged, particularly on Sundays and Holidays, when there are Concerts. To go to the Tivoli is quite within the bounds of propriety in Mexico; indeed the highest players are usually of the gentler sex, and the trip to Tacubaya is seldom omitted by visitors.

German Gymnastic Club.

DEUTSCHER REIT VEREIN.—Organized in 1880. Ag. Diener, pres.; v.-pres., R. Banerhorst; secy., F. Gottwald, Banco Central; treas., T. Caester; master, G. Struck, Jr. Headquarters, German Club, in Colegio Niñas.

Racing.

TRACK.—Peralvillo. Racing in Mexico is under the supervision of the Jockey Club; the committee having direct control is named by the committee of the club. The sport was a dead letter during 1900, both the spring and fall meeting of the club failing to materialize, while the grand stand of the Indianilla track was torn down. This, after seventeen years' of continuous racing. It is probable that a proposed new track will be constructed at Chapultepec and the sport revived.
